

Wednesday, 11 August 2010

Health Protection

Malaria

Introduction
Malaria is a serious, sometimes fatal, disease caused by a parasite that enters your bloodstream through mosquito bites. It is caused by a parasite called Plasmodium.

Signs and symptoms
There are four types of Plasmodium parasite. The symptoms of malaria vary depending on which type you are infected with and how long it has been since you were infected.

Prevention
There are two main ways of avoiding malaria and it is important to take steps to avoid it. There are many ways to prevent malaria and avoid getting it.

Related prevention advice
There are many different malaria prevention advice sheets in our collection. You can get them from the website and you can order them. These sheets also have to be checked to make sure they are up to date and you should check them regularly.

Malaria is a serious, sometimes fatal, disease spread by mosquitoes. It is common in many tropical countries and is caused by a parasite called Plasmodium. This two page leaflet covers the types of parasite that carry malaria, where it is most commonly found and the preventative measures you can take to avoid malaria.

Details

Format
2 page, A4, PDF factsheet
Target group
Public

Downloads

Attachment

Size

Health Matters - What you need to know - Malaria factsheet.pdf 179.66 KB

Print