

Friday, 01 April 2011

HSC Research and Development www.research.hscni.net

Cochrane Collaboration Training Courses on Systematic Reviews

Background
The HSC Research and Development Agency has funded a number of training courses for HSC staff in order to build capacity in the area of research and development. The Cochrane Collaboration is a not-for-profit organisation that provides training and support for researchers and health professionals in the area of systematic reviews. The Cochrane Collaboration is a not-for-profit organisation that provides training and support for researchers and health professionals in the area of systematic reviews. The Cochrane Collaboration is a not-for-profit organisation that provides training and support for researchers and health professionals in the area of systematic reviews.

Objectives
The objectives of the training courses are to provide HSC staff with the knowledge and skills to conduct systematic reviews. The objectives of the training courses are to provide HSC staff with the knowledge and skills to conduct systematic reviews. The objectives of the training courses are to provide HSC staff with the knowledge and skills to conduct systematic reviews.

Eligibility
The training courses are open to all HSC staff who are interested in conducting systematic reviews. The training courses are open to all HSC staff who are interested in conducting systematic reviews. The training courses are open to all HSC staff who are interested in conducting systematic reviews.

Cochrane Training - Guidance Notes 2011

Guidance Notes for Training Courses on Conducting Systematic Reviews, 2011.

Details

Format

3 page A4

Target group

Wider Research Community

Downloads

Attachment

Size

Innov Cochrane Training Guide Notes 2011 04 0.pdf 206.19 KB

Print